Background

The California Energy Commission adopted Battery Charger System and Self-Contained Lighting Control Regulations on January 12, 2012. The Energy Commission made a commitment to respond to all the technical concerns related to certification raised by the stakeholders. The Energy Commission also offered to assist manufacturers in understanding the requirements of the regulations. Energy Commission staff would like to assist regulated manufacturers in addressing challenges they may face in demonstrating compliance with the regulations.

Battery Charger System and Self-Contained Lighting Control Regulations and related documents are available on the website at:

www.energy.ca.gov/appliances/battery_chargers/index.html.

The Energy Commission is interested in hearing from manufacturers regarding progress toward compliance and any challenges that manufacturers may be encountering. We are open to your feedback and are committed to working with manufacturers to aid in your efforts to comply with these new regulations.

Public Comment

Energy Commission staff will provide time on the agenda to accept oral comments from the regulated community to share individual successes, challenges and obstacles in certifying compliance. Comments may be limited to 15 minutes per speaker. You may also submit a written comment to appliances@energy.ca.gov by October 22. Your comment may be discussed at the workshop. Any comments may become part of the public record in this proceeding.
